WHY CHOOSE AN ALL-GIRLS' EDUCATION

Imagine a world where everyone around you – in leadership roles, in the lab, on the field, in a capella, and in your study group – advocates for, and supports, your needs as a girl. In an all-girls' school, that world is reality. At Salem Academy, we've been preparing girls to shine across every dimension of their lives since 1772.

HERE ARE JUST SOME OF THE REASONS AN ALL-GIRLS' EDUCATION PAVES THE WAY FOR EXCELLENCE

► We champion the needs of girls

An all-girls' learning environment is specifically tailored to the needs of girls. Girls are empowered to freely express themselves and to carve out a space for their interests, passions and dreams. We motivate, inspire, and galvanize.

► We celebrate a culture of achievement

The vast majority of girls' school students report being challenged to rise to their full academic potential. Small class sizes, targeted extracurricular activities, and female-centered perspectives drive personal and academic success.

► We mentor and advise

Girls' schools are notable for their intimate, close-knit learning environments. Our small class sizes, dedicated teaching staff, and committed family and community networks deliver unrivaled support and mentoring.

► We allow girls to be themselves

When you feel comfortable in your identity and self-expression, you can focus on your learning. The focus on individualized attention and the safe exchange of ideas encourages girls to pursue their own powerfully varied interests.

As part of the International Coalition of Girls' Schools, Salem Academy is proud to deliver an education of excellence in an environment that supports the many things that make you, you.

Since I've been at Salem, I've discovered my own intelligence and strengths. I am becoming a strong woman who wants to do something with her life, someone who is making plans to be successful.

► We lead by example

In a girls' school environment, girls occupy every role, modeling possibilities and fostering self-confidence. Girls see themselves in leadership functions, innovator positions, and creative spaces. They're primed to explore every "what if."

► We nurture real-world success

A girls' school education goes beyond the classroom. Students at an all-girls' school are confident public speakers and communicators and are active participants in their communities. These skills serve them admirably in the real world.

► We go against the grain

All-girls schools support the needs of girls in pursuing interests in fields where they have been historically underrepresented, including math, science, technology and engineering. An all-girls' education helps maintain positive attitudes towards these subjects – and performance as well.

► We strive to be remarkable

Girls who attend all-girls' schools are more motivated and have higher career aspirations, with the majority having their sights set on graduate qualifications.
